Subject: Final Comments - Ag WUE, Water Transfers, CO River Region

Dear Paul, et al.,

Greetings.

As I stated on voice mail to each of you, I have made edits on attached the WORD files --Volume 2 Chapter 3 Ag WUE, and Chapter 23 Water Transfers; and Volume 3 Chapter 11 Colorado River Hydrologic Region. The last attached file is an overview of my comments -- along with some indication of where the QSA edits are located.

For each of these SWP files there are two (2) types of edits:

1 - Required edits re the Colorado Quantification Settlement Agreement -- my edits have been revised by an IID attorney, David Osias, who participated in the negotiations for the final Agreement. Therefore, all changes relating to the QSA should be adopted exactly as they are. If for any reason, DWR wants to make changes in the QSA references, please contact me and I will forward the proposed change to our attorney for comment.

1-a) Per attorney direction, documentation for numbers used in Ag WUE narrative is Exhibit C to the QSA www.iid.com/water/qs2003/qs2\_agreement.pdf

2 - All of my other changes are suggested edits. These can of course be adopted or rejected at the discretion of DWR.

2-a) Our summer student has gone through the Information Source box for each of these chapters to check the web links. Her revisions are included.

If anyone has questions, please call me. Next week I will be in the office on Monday until about 1:30 p.m. I will be gone all day Tuesday, but will return on Wednesday afternoon at around 3:00 p.m. Following that, I will be available through August 15. On August 16, I am traveling to China. I will return from China on September 20.

If it would help, I will be happy to review the QSA portions again before DWR publishes the final document (from now until August 12, or after September 20).

In closing, thank you for this final opportunity to comment. I am pleased with the process that was undertaken to generate this Update 2005, and the way the documents have come together, although with such a huge document (and my propensities) opportunities for editing never cease.

I extend my heartfelt thanks and highest regard to all DWR staff who worked on this for their openness to accepting guidance and assistance from the Center for Collaborative Policy (CSU, Sacramento) and the ideas and comments from Advisory Committee members and others, and for their grace in integrating what at times (surely more often than I know) were points of view and concepts that were less than in agreement.

Warmest regards to all,

Anisa
